CONDITIONS GOVERNING THE ACCEPTANCE OF AUDIO-VISUAL REPRODUCTION ORDERS

1. The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, U.S. Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user uses a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of such "fair use," that user is solely responsible for obtaining any necessary copyright permission before doing so. The user also assumes sole responsibility for questions of invasion of privacy. The Hoover Institution is not responsible for any illegal or improper use of reproduced material and reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfilling the order would involve violation of copyright law.
2. No publication, further reproduction, or reuse of the reproductions, beyond fair use, may be made without the express written permission of the copyright owner, if any, or, in the cases copyright is held by Stanford University, by the Hoover Institution Archives on behalf of Stanford University.
3. The user shall file with the Archivist of the Hoover Institution a copy of any documentation acquired relating to ownership of copyright or intellectual property interest in the work or to rights, permissions, or privileges therein.

USER'S AGREEMENT

In consideration of the Hoover Institution's making the reproduction or reproductions available to me, I agree to abide by the conditions in paragraphs 1 through 3, above. I further agree to defend, indemnify, and hold harmless Stanford University, including the Hoover Institution, and its employees and agents, from any claim, loss, or liability arising out of the use of the reproduction or reproductions I have ordered.
